1. [REDACTED] the Cobertura forces of the VI Army Corps of Navarre, in Spain, which are stationed in the frontier zone of the Western Pyrenees, are going to be dissolved. These same troops, according to source, will be used to form a Mixed Group (Agrupacion Mixta). Reportedly, the troops will remain at their present locations but the Command Post will be established in the vicinity of Pamplona, probably in Burlada.*
2. The new Group will serve the same purpose as the Cobertura forces at the present time, that of guarding the most dangerous points of the frontier. The Group will maintain permanent residence there, since this is not to be a provisional arrangement.
